Why Career Education?

Career education is not just about gaining practical skills and securing a great job. It's about making a sound investment—in yourself, and in your future.

Not only do career education graduates start their careers faster and with higher salaries than those with just high school diplomas, they enjoy more secure futures, because they are less likely to be unemployed. Statistically, Career Education graduates earn an average of $66,000 annually—almost $27,500 MORE every year than those with general-focus associate degrees.

It doesn't take a degree in accounting to know that a career education pays dividends!

Economy Ready

With more than $16.8 trillion in assets, the U.S. banking system supports the world's largest economy... but students who study business and finance don't just work for banks.

Because most companies have both a financial and management component, career opportunities for those with a business-related career education are available in every sector of the economy. This is especially true in the Inland Empire.

Comprising an economic area that is larger than Seattle, San Diego, or Orange County—and twice the size of Silicon Valley—the Inland Empire is one of the most dynamic business regions in the United States. From 2017-18, the region added 45,100 non-farm jobs, outpacing job growth for the state, and nation as a whole.

This continued growth, combined with the globalization of financial markets and technological advancement of financial systems, will continue to drive exciting new career opportunities in this sector for the foreseeable future.

Get the paycheck you deserve with a career education in business!
